

How many steps do you need to make to get something valuable from the chatbot.
Does the chatbot answer making references to your questions?
After any of the small talk questions, did the chatbot tried to bring you back to its scope?
Does the chatbot understand you?
Does it have answers for your different bad words?
Does it take any measure against you?
Does it understand that it use different languages?
Does the chatbot allow you to change the scope?
Are the error messages different depending on the stage of the conversation?
Does a chatbot understand the second request in context to the first one?